

Home Entertainment

Consumer Services

The rapid growth of digital technology into the home brings new challenges for the service provider. The consumer's lack of technical knowledge and often the restricted access times into the home, hinders the installation and warranty exchange processes.

echo's Home Entertainment service manages the entire process from booking the appointment, warehousing and configuration to delivery, installation and user training.

Operating 7 days a week ensures the client receives an installation time that suits them with the highest levels of service and availability to this increasing and demanding market.
